Gallery 263 Announces Largest Gift in History

Thanks to the generosity of the Gregor family

Cambridge, MA – Gallery 263 is thrilled to announce it is the recipient of a $50,000 donation. This significant gift is the largest in the Gallery’s thirteen-year history. Gallery 263 is a nonprofit art space that depends on donations and grants to enrich the community and be a platform for emerging and regional artists.

Thanks to the generosity of the Gregor family, the Gallery will continue to offer a broad range of programming, including a robust exhibition calendar of ten to fifteen shows per year, special events, weekly yoga classes, and an artist-in-residence program. The funds will also be used to support long-term, strategic planning, ensuring the Gallery is well-positioned to achieve its mission of serving the community and a broad range of diverse and talented local artists.

In making this gift, Mark Gregor shares;

"I feel privileged to support the Gallery in its mission of empowering artists, nurturing innovation, and providing a wide array of programming for the local community. I'm excited to see this gift used for an array of needs to ensure that the Gallery is here for the long-term."

As the only nonprofit art space in Cambridgeport, Gallery 263 relies on philanthropy to bring thought-provoking and visually compelling art to our community and beyond, and to serve as a platform for emerging and regional artists.
